

country, will be paid off at the rate of 40 cents on the $1. This settlement is regarded as just, owing to the very small amount of money loaned in the first place as compared with the face value of the bonds, and also to the fact that the bondholders are not interested in giving their support to the Maximilian attempt and the contracts entered into with that Prince.

This arrangement would enable the Government to pay off the English bondholders, as well as those of the interior debt, without borrowing but one set of bonds drawing interest at the former rate. It is thought that the Government has been successfully reprieved through much pressure in mercantile and financial circles. Americans are disgusted to think that Mexico was offered no encouragement to place this loan in the UNITED STATES, while the English are very much surprised to see that a German banker has been able to get out of their country money-lenders. It is also reported, and not on the most reliable authority, that Reichsdrover will also furnish the necessary capital for the completion of the railroad from here to Acapulco and the Pacific. It is not, however, to be expected that there can be no doubt that this road will soon be built, probably by an English company whose engineer has been here for some time making an investigation.

AN INTERESTING DISCOVERY is announced in the "Paris Figure," of a valuable remedy for nervous debility, physical weakness, and premature decay. The discovery was made by a missionary in Old Mexico; it saved him from a miserable existence and a premature grave. We learn that the Rev. J. H. Holman, of "Broomfield Mansions," Grosvenor Square, London, W., will send the prescription, free of charge, to the receipt of a self-addressed stamped envelope.
